

A diagram illustrating a transition from a state of security to a state of insecurity. A light green rectangular area on the left contains a white rounded rectangle with the word "Security" in bold black text. A dashed black line runs diagonally from the bottom-left towards the top-right, separating the green area from the white background. A solid black curved arrow originates from the right side of the "Security" box, curves upwards and to the right, then turns downwards and to the right, ending with an arrowhead pointing at the "Insecurity" box. The "Insecurity" box is a white rectangle with a black border, located in the bottom-right area of the diagram.

Security

Insecurity