1. OVERVIEW

The course provides an introduction to the standard linear regression model, which is the core of econometrics. Topics include estimation by ordinary least squares (OLS), interpreting regression results, hypothesis testing, and misspecification issues. In addition to the standard regression model, we will look at event-study methodology, instrumental variables and panel data. This is an applied course, meaning that all topics will be illustrated by empirical examples related to investments and corporate finance using real data.

2. PREREQUISITES

Students are expected to understand mathematics and statistics at an intermediate level.

This course is a first course in econometrics and is therefore not intended for students who have already completed any of the following courses:

30C00200 Econometrics

ECON-C4100 Capstone: Econometrics I

Or any other introductory econometrics course

3. LEARNING OUTCOMES

By the end of the course, students will be familiar with basic econometric methods; be able to implement these methods using the R language (http://www.r-project.org/); know how to interpret statistical results correctly and draw appropriate conclusions.

4. STUDY MATERIALS

Video lectures, slides, readings, assignments, additional exercises, datasets, R-files, and other materials will be provided by the lecturer through MyCourses.

5. HYBRID CLASSES

Every Wednesday, 15 September – 20 October 2021, 10:15-11.45 in room R001/U149 U6 KONECRANES(*). At most 40 students can attend in person. A registration form for in-class attendance will open on MyCourses on the Monday before each lecture at 9:00.

Other students can participate in the session by Zoom. Zoom links will be provided via MyCourses. These hybrid sessions are meant for discuss the last assignments, provide opportunity for Q&A, preview next week's topics + assignment, look at additional examples. Recordings of the meetings will NOT be provided by the lecturer.

(*) Exception: room R001/U147 U5 on 29.9

6. ASSESSMENT AND GRADING

Assignments (50%) and Exam (50%). You can earn a maximum of 50 points for the exam, and a maximum of 50 point for the combined assignments. In order to pass the course, you are required to obtain at least 40% of the final exam points (i.e. 20 points or more).

Provided that you pass the 40% benchmark for the final exam, your final grade on a 0-5 scale is determined by the total combined points for your assignment and exam result x = (points for assignments and quizzes) + (points for final exam):

 $90 \le x \le 100$: Final grade = 5 $80 \le x < 90$: Final grade = 4 $70 \le x < 80$: Final grade = 3 $60 \le x < 70$: Final grade = 2 $50 \le x < 60$: Final grade = 1 $0 \le x < 50$: Final grade = 0, Fail

There are two online exam opportunities.

7. ASSIGNMENTS

There will be five graded assignments/quizzes during the course. Working together is allowed, but every student needs to submit the answers individually.

You can earn a maximum of 10 points for each of the assignments (maximum 50 points in total)
