You have been invited to participate in a research study. Participation in this study is voluntary. You can discontinue your participation in the study at any time. Should you discontinue your participation, you will not be subject to any negative consequences. This privacy notice describes the use of your data.

1. What is being studied in this research study?

The subject of this study is to understand how students learn about open science practices and principles through a new sensory open learning experience, named: digital and hands-on cooking experience.

Your role in this study:

Your participation in this learning experience and your participation in the final gala will be audio recorded.

Research funding:

This learning and research are funded by Aalto Online Learning Pilot. Project name: Doctoral Course on Open Science & Gastronomy.

2. Personal data will be collected from the following sources:

The on-line lectures, the interactions among participants and the final gala will be audio-recorded and transcript with research purposes. No video or photo images of participants will be recorded or stored.

Only videos and pictures of the food (ingredients, elaborations, recipes) posted as homework on Instagram's course account will be used for research purposes.

3. What personal data is processed?

First names and family names of participants.

4. How is personal data anonymised in the study?

First names and family names will be pseudonymised in the transcripts.

e.g First name 1 and family name 1 = Participant 1

5. Legal basis for processing of personal data

The processing is based on your consent.

6. Sharing of Personal Data

Personal data is not shared with third-party collaborators.

7. Transfer of Personal Data to Non-EU/EEA countries

Personal data is not transferred to non-EU/EAA countries.

8. Storage period of your data

After anonymization, personal data (transcripts of the audio-records) will be stored at Aalto University. The audio-records will be deleted.

9. The rights of the data subject

According to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), data subjects have the right:

- to obtain information on the processing of their personal data
- of access to their data
- to request rectification of their data
- to request restricting the processing of their data
- to object to the processing of their data
- right to erasure, if the grounds of article 17.1 of GDPR apply and if processing is no longer needed for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes in accordance with Article 89(1) in so far as the right to erasure is not likely to render impossible or seriously impair the scientific research.

If the purposes for which a controller processes personal data do not or do no longer require the identification of a data subject by the controller, the controller shall not be obliged to maintain, acquire or process additional information in order to identify the data or the data subject for the sole purpose of complying with the GDPR. If the controller cannot identify the data related to a data subject, the rights of access, rectification, objection and erasure shall not apply, except if the data subject provides additional information enabling his or her identification and the identification of the research data that relates to data subject.

Data is being processed for the purposes of scientific research, and the data is not used in decision-making related to the participant.

To exercise his or her rights, the data subject should contact the Data Protection Officer of Aalto University, or the research study contact person.
