

Assignment 3.1 Analyze two introductions either from two reference papers or one reference paper and your own

Complete this assignment before coming to the related workshop. Submit both this form and your two introductions (labeled and highlighted) to MyCourses. Plus, be prepared to share your work with others during the Workshop.

Analysis 1: Complete parts A and B

A. Tick each box below when you have completed the item.

Label each part of the five parts (which may appear more than once in the introduction): background, unknown or research gap, purpose, approach, closing

Highlight (yellow) words that signal the importance of the topic

Highlight (green) words or phrases that signal the research gap (the unknown)
Note: if you didn't find any, it suggests that the gap is missing (although possibly implied).

B. Choose an option from each dropdown box below.

Applies a general-to-specific pattern

Opening lines attempt to capture the reader's interest

Cites the key literature efficiently (not a complete literature review)

Any question marks in the introduction

Eliminates overview sentences (that don't contribute to the meaning)

Identify the order of ideas (from the dropdown list). If 'other', please explain

Identify the type of closing (from the dropdown list). If 'other', please explain

Analysis 2: Complete parts A and B

A. Tick each box below when you have completed the item.

Label each part of the five parts (which may appear more than once in the introduction): background, unknown or research gap, purpose, approach, closing

Highlight (yellow) words that signal the importance of the topic

Highlight (green) words or phrases that signal the research gap (the unknown)

Note: if you didn't find any, it suggests that the gap is missing (although possibly implied).

A. Choose an option from each dropdown box below.

Applies a general-to-specific pattern

Opening lines attempt to capture the reader's interest

Cites the key literature efficiently (not a complete literature review)

Any question marks in the introduction

Eliminates overview sentences (that don't contribute to the meaning)

Identify the order of ideas (from the dropdown box). If 'other', please explain

Identify the type of closing (from the dropdown box). If 'other', please explain