

Acknowledge Micronova in Your Publications!

Dear user of Micronova's research infrastructure.

Your work at Micronova is heavily supported by Aalto University financially and through the facilities as well as technical assistance. We must justify Micronova's existence and high expense through the results that our research infrastructure helps to generate. For this reason, it is very important that Micronova is appropriately acknowledged in all your publications that have benefited from Micronova's facilities. This applies to journal articles, presentations and theses.

Some form of attribution is required in the 'Acknowledgements' section of your publication. For publications without an 'Acknowledgements' section, the attribution should be made either as a footnote to the title, or included as a reference when the work is described in the 'Experimental' section.

Here are some suggested examples of attribution:

- "We acknowledge the provision of facilities and technical support by Aalto University at Micronova Nanofabrication Centre."
- "This research was undertaken at the Micronova Nanofabrication Centre of Aalto University."
- "Part of the research was performed at the Micronova Nanofabrication Centre of Aalto University."

You are welcome to modify the acknowledgement to suit your preferences, but the word "Micronova" should always be included.

When you have a paper accepted for publication, please do let me know by e-mail (mika.koskenvuori@aalto.fi) with a link or a copy of your paper. I'll be pleased to add it to our growing archive, and also use it in our own presentations as an example of successful research at Micronova.
