

Final project outline

Produce a rough outline (see e.g. <https://writingcenter.gmu.edu/writing-resources/writing-as-process/outlining> ) of the proposed project, including country choice, country specific subsection titles, initial bibliography and some bullets under relevant sections reflecting the lectures, readings, and your initial thoughts.

Avoid being too general, the outline is supposed to demonstrate your early research on the chosen country. Structure your thoughts and readings in, and to, the outline structure, so that it makes a coherent and logical whole. Cover in the outline the full breadth of the assignment. Bibliography should mainly consist of peer-reviewed papers, rather than grey literature. Popular media sources (e.g. BBC, HS, New York Times) should be completely avoided, as should wikipedia.

Marked 5 for doing what is asked, 3 if minor gaps exist, 1 if problems/gaps severe and 0 if no submission/no real attempt to do what is asked. Note that your final project can differ from the outline, for both country and/or sector, although that does reduce the benefits of doing the outline.
