

A picture is worth a thousand words

No more reading. The end of the course is approaching and it is time to sum up what you have learned. Create a meme that does one of the following:

- describes a fact related to biopolymers that you have learned in the course
- shows your view on biopolymers
- illustrates your opinion about the future of biopolymers
- or is related to biopolymers in any other way

Again, only one of the above is enough.

Me explaining a meme is probably an insult to you but just in case a description can be found here. For this task, you can use e.g. the meme generator ImgFlip. Upload your meme to our Biopolymers Padlet page. Add your name to the title and upload your image.