Fictitious Case Example: Tax Audit in Finco Absurdistan CJSC

- Finco Absurdistan CJSC (FAC) is an Absurdistanian subsidiary of a Finnish multinational group, Finco Oyj (turnover 4 BEUR)
  - Absurdistan is a middle sized country in Eurasia, with a tax treaty with Finland
- FAC develops, manufactures and sells gadgets based on Absurdistan originated IP
- FAC has not been integrated to the rest of Finco Group's business model due to the management's long stemming plan to sell the business
- FAC has not been profit-making in the last years, its equity is negative and is financed by the group. It's turnover is 50 MEUR a year
- FAC is regarded as an entrepreneur for transfer pricing purposes, selling to external customers and group entities
- FAC owns its IP which 10 years ago was top notch in its field and was a national pride to the Absurdistanian government
- Absurdistanian treasury coffer is alarmingly emptying up and the Finance ministry has asked Tax administration to help out
- At 4 am one morning, the Finco tax director's phone rings: there has been a raid in the offices of FAC and tax auditors demand a 100 MEUR additional tax payment due to transfer pricing adjustments...

Case Example – Immediate reaction

- How would you comment the case background?
- How is it from the tax risk management process point of view?
- What to do first?
- Who to contact and notify?
- What potential impacts are there?
- What are the next practical steps to handle the issue?

Case Continues

- The Absurdistanian tax office has sent FAC an initial tax audit report, based on which:
  - Because foreign owned group companies are not allowed to make losses in Absurdistan, the company is recharacterized as a limited risk distributor, contract manufacturer and contract R&D service provider
  - Tax office has performed benchmark studies and due to the fact the technology of FAC is regarded as very high value and is famous in Absurdistan, upper quartile of the arm's length range has been applied (ROS 15% on sales, cost plus 30% for R&D and cost plus 40% for contract manufacturing)
  - In addition, the tax office regards that due to carrying marketing costs locally which have contributed to a loss, auditors require a marketing intangible buy-out to be taxed in Absurdistan
  - Tax auditors found a news article in the Internet saying that Finco Group has opened new R&D centers in Poland and China for its main technologies. As at the same time, the volume in the Absurdistanian R&D center has decreased, the tax office regards the R&D activity having been transferred to these countries, and requires a buy-out payment
  - As the group has obviously intendedly avoided Absurdistanian taxation, it is accused of tax fraud, with 200% penalty on additional tax and potential criminal actions against Directors of FAC
- However, later a member of the tax audit team calls local CFO mentioning that if FAC makes a 500 kEUR payment to the state and 10k apiece to the audit team members, the case would go away...

Case Example – Taking case forward

- How would you comment the tax audit findings?
- What is your reaction to the call?
- What claims to make in the response letter to the audit report?
- What are the next steps in the dispute process and what points to take into account?
